About Ryan Kasi

Ryan Kasi is a deputy civil-law notary at AKD who specialises in property and area development. Ryan advises his clients on national and international transactions, joint-ventures, multiple use of land, transformation projects, infrastructure, financings and security and risk analyses. He also advises on the turnover and transfer tax aspects of existing real estate and new builds.

Ryan's practise encompasses such areas as construction, logistics real estate, healthcare, hospitality, social property and e-commerce. Clients Ryan represents include leading national and international institutional and private parties, financiers, government bodies, area and property developers, sovereign wealth funds and family (investment) companies.

Having first obtained two bachelor's degrees in Notarial Law and Law (in general), Ryan completed a master's degree in Notarial Law at the University of Leiden.
