About Zinho Schelkers

Zinho is an attorney-at-law at AKD who specialises in corporate law for public and semi-public authorities. Equipped with broad legal expertise and sensitivity for the political context in which his clients operate, he advises public authorities, state-owned enterprises and not-for-profit organisations such as housing associations. Having a background in both corporate law and administrative law allows Zinho to provide carefully assessed legal advice. Zinho has additional experience advising heating companies on governance issues, within the framework of the Collective Heat Supply Act [Wet collectieve warmte].
